Passport Ranking

Passport Ranking is a system that evaluates and ranks the world's passports based on the, mobility freedom or access their holders have to other countries without requiring a prior visa. Generally, the more countries a passport holder can visit visa-free or with visa-on-arrival, the higher its ranking.

Key Aspects of Passport Ranking

Definition of Power: A "powerful" passport provides the highest number of, visa-free destinations.

Measurement Metrics: Rankings, such as the Henley Passport Index or The Passport Index, typically use data from the International Air Transport Association \(IATA\) to calculate scores based on:

- Visa-free entry.
- Visa-on-arrival. global travel destinations can be reached without a pre-approved visa.
- Electronic Travel Authorization (eTA).

Methodology: The score determines how many of the roughly 227 global travel destinations can be reached without a pre-approved visa.
